

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TEXT AND TYPOGRAPHY

BY WAY OF PREFACE

Those who attend sales of Works of Art may be divided into two classes. There are collectors, each one of whom, as a rule, has a well-defined specialty and there are those who are given to the acquisition of some particular piece because of its inherent desirability or adaptability to fit into some pre-conceived plan of furnishing. Both of these will be interested in the Luigi Orselli Collection, which the American Art Association offers at Unreserved Public Sale.

For many years Mr. Orselli has been known as one of New York's most prominent Connoisseurs and Dealers in Italian Works of Art, and his Forty-seventh Street Gallery has always been a center of attraction both to discriminating collectors and to those who buy a piece of old Furniture, a Textile or a Wrought Iron, because they see, at a glance, in their mind's eye, precisely the place it should worthily occupy in one or another of their own rooms. Especially noteworthy were the upper floors of the gallery, which were transformed with rare intelligence into a series of rooms suggesting an Italian interior of the Middle Ages. There were an Entrance Hall, Dining, Living and Bed Rooms, the walls of which were decorated in the Florentine manner of the Fifteenth Century, while the fittings, draperies and other accessories, as well as all the Furniture, the Chairs, the Tables and the Cabinets, had been, for years, patiently and carefully chosen, and so placed and disposed as to offer a very concrete idea of the home surroundings of the Italians of Renaissance times. These rooms, too, served as successful examples of the beauty of those old Italian decorations, the many brilliant colors of which were so harmonized as to offer an agreeable and satisfying ensemble. Mr. Orselli, too, was something more than a mere dealer in old things, he had a real and abiding love for them and a flair for gathering them together quite apart from all commercial consideration. He has always been a sedulous observer of, and a liberal purchaser at, the more notable sales of Italian Works of Art, where he was wont to acquire any pieces which were considered by him to be of genuine merit and of which he did not deem the price to be exorbitant, and he also has been fortunate in securing the active co-operation of Mr. J. Dabissi. As a natural consequence, his Collection is surprisingly diversified and contains articles which are likely to appeal to a vast number of tastes. Among the collections offered in this country from which he drew largely were those of the Davanzati Palace, of Prof. Elia Volpi and of Stefano Bardini, while he has secured either himself, or through his European establishment, examples from the leading collections dispersed in Italy and other countries.

Among the things now offered for sale will be found many which are striking either on account of their unusual design or superb execution, as well as a number whose character is bound to attract those who desire a Table, a Chair, a Torchère or a Drapery which will fill "some long-felt want" in a room of either house or apartment. Indeed, it may be said that a most exceptional opportunity is offered by this sale of the Luigi Orselli Collection, in which there are many things of artistic significance which cannot fail to win the regard and attention of admirers of Italian art and of all those who love to surround themselves with objects of beauty, interest and quaintness.

HORACE TOWNSEND.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.
